

heartbreak gospel

This is the weekend we historically pause and give thanks to God for his goodness to us personally and nationally. As believers, we talk about living with an 'attitude of gratitude' and insist that thanksgiving means 'thanks living.' This weekend, as we look into God's Word, we will dig deep into the heart of God and find a source of endless blessing of which we are the recipients -- his dearly loved children. From the opening pages of Genesis to the book of the Revelation, over 500 times God is described as one who blessing. Here's the biblical impact of receiving a blessing from God: we are expected to pass it on to others in the manner we have received it. Matthew's parable will provide practical application for what it means to live a life that is 'blessed beyond belief!'
